Banker set to testify on Legacy bogus loans

By Doris C. Dumlao

A KEY OFFICER OF THE bankrupt Legacy chain of rural banks is being summoned today to blow the whistle on the fraudulent loans booked by the crumbling financial empire linked to politician Gelo de los Angeles Jr.

The now still unnamed witness has not yet been named in the Senate probe.

The banker has been meeting with the Senate Banking Committee (BANKCOM) and has provided "dramatic evidence" against De los Angeles even before two top women executives of the Legacy-owned joint-stock company came forward as witnesses, according to BPC Chairman President Philip Francisco.

"We are working from this guy in another state witness name," BANCORP said.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? The presidential yacht has been transformed from a leisurely vessel into a ship for emergency missions. So, the Philippine Navy suggested to President Arroyo to change its name from RRP Ang Pag-Asa to RRP Ang Pag-Asa. Mr. Arroyo and Defense Secretary Gilbert Tinsay provide at the change during the ship's 50th anniversary ceremony in Pier 13, South Harbor, Manila.

Ex-general's wife, 3 sons all US citizens

By Edwin C. Tinsay Jr.

TEN DAYS AFTER TWO SONS OF FORMER military comptroller Maj. Gen. Carlos Garcia were arrested in the United States, US lawmen caught up with Garcia's wife and a third son who have been fugitives for more than three years.

Clara Depokalife Garcia, 64, and her son, Timothy Mark, were arrested last Thursday and were scheduled to face a detention hearing Friday.

They were arrested "on the basis of a request from the Philippine government for them to face plunder charges filed against them in the Philippines," said Assistant United States Attorney Michael J. DeLoach.

Arrested and the government has so far not received any official communication from the US government regarding the arrests.

"But we have confirmed that they were arrested in the US," he said.

Garcia, his wife and three sons have been charged with plunder for allegedly amassing more than P90 million in unexplained wealth during Garcia's active service in the military.

Garcia, who was convicted in 1997 on charges of plunder, was sentenced to 10 years in 2000, is already in jail while on trial for plunder.

Clara and her three sons have been at large since the plunder case was filed in 2005. Unlike Garcia, Clara and her

By Michael Lin Ulloa and Gil C. Cabacungan Jr.

WITH THE PASSAGE OF THE poll automation budget, the Commission on Elections (Comelec) now has to purge the voters' list of "flying" or "flying" voters, Sen. Loren Legarda said yesterday.

Legarda echoed the position of Senator Edgardo Angara,

Richard Gordon and Juan Miguel Zubiri that poll automation was only the first step toward achieving free, honest and orderly elections in May 2010.

The first, along with Senators Rodolfo Biazon, Lito Lapid, Ramon Revilla Jr., Gregorio Honasan and Senate Minority Leader Aquilino Pimentel II, voted to adopt House Bill No.

Erap: I have nothing to do with Dacer slay

By Pi Zamora

EX-SENATOR SUEP CESAR MARIANO II now links more to a controversial double-murder case "if he is under pressure" to name names, charged President Joseph Estrada said yesterday.

Estrada declined involvement in the abduction and killing of publicist Salvador "Bobby" Dacer and driver Emmanuel Corales, purportedly by members of the Presidential Anti-Organized Crime Task Force (PROCTF) created by then Philippine National Police chief Zenillo Lacson.

The crime occurred in November 2000, during the Estrada administration.

"I have nothing to do with it," Estrada told the lawmakers on the phone. "If (Bobby) is under pressure, he can name anyone."

According to a lawyer of the Dacer family, Marcos has named the presidential and the perpetrators of the double murder in an affidavit prepared in the United States, where he is facing extradition proceedings.

Marcos, a former PROCTF officer, is among the 22 charged with the double murder in the Manila Regional Trial Court

Veto of Congress stimulus plan a mistake—Angara

Monday a holiday for Muslims

PRESIDENT MAUNISTO ARROYO will be making a "big mistake" if she decides to veto the P50-billion congressional stimulus package because it is an economic lifeline for the country, said Sen. Alan Angara.

"It will be a powerful signal that this administration is not caring of the plight of the people because every single project would have helped the vulnerable elements of society," said Angara, chair of the Senate Finance Committee.

Maunista is in the process of reviewing the P50-billion Economic Stimulus Package. Angara said that the congressional conference committee approved and submitted the package to the President.

The financial conference had passed a provision appropriating P50 billion for a so-called congressional stimulus package. The P50 billion was taken out of the budget allocated for debt service.

Budget Secretary Bulendo said the other day it was possible the President would veto the provision appropriating P50 billion for the congressional stimulus package as debt payment can be automatically appropriated under the law.

People's initiative

The 2009 budget is originally prepared by Malabon already contains the bulk of the P50-billion economic stimulus package that the administration has marketed to help the country ride out the global economic crisis. The part of the package included in the budget comes to about P140 billion for infrastructure projects and health and social services.

According to Angara, the P50-billion congressional stimulus package is a necessary stimulus to boost the economy, social services and education programs to stimulate the economy.

"This is a right to have a country that the people. The whole Congress came out with this package to help people who will be affected by the global economic crisis," he said.

According to notes on the legislative report, Congress' version of an economic stimulus package sought additional appropriations for 1.6 government agencies as well as state universities and colleges.

From debt service

This included, among others, P17.5 billion for roads, bridges, building and other infrastructure from the Department of Public Works and Highways, P6.6 billion for teachers' principal, teachers' training, and school building from the Department of Education and P5.3 billion for agricultural and fisheries modernization programs.

In April 8, the House committee on debt service by P50.3 billion and diverted it to the stimulus package.

"This will increase the deficit from P18 billion to P12.3 billion, which will only be equivalent to 0.8 percent of the P1.45 trillion 2009 GDP for 2009," the House report said. —Gloria C. Arce, Manila

Pagasa sees hot weekend

EXPECT THE HOT WEATHER TO CONTINUE through the weekend, the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (Pagasa) said yesterday.

As long as weather bureau chief Nathaniel Cruz explained it, a high pressure area in the Pacific was expected to bring more rain as it moves across the area this weekend.

"That high pressure area acts like a big door in the blowing warm air toward. This means it will go downwind and likely to reach every island. In the western part of the Philippines, it will move more fast," Cruz said.

According to Pagasa's forecast, temperatures in Metro Manila reached 32.6 degrees centigrade at around 1:30 p.m. yesterday. While that is below hot, it will not reach the record high for Metro Manila of 38 degrees.

In Tagaytay, where temperatures can reach 40 degrees centigrade, yesterday's reading was at a warm 35.5 degrees centigrade, which is around 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PRESIDENT GLORIA MACAPAGAL-ARROYO

We, the concerned organizations and individuals working for children's rights and welfare, strongly appeal for the reconsideration of the implementation of Executive Order 778 (EO 778) that would transfer the functions of the Council for the Welfare of Children (CWC) to the National Early Childhood Care and Development Council (National ECCD Council) and to the Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD).

Separating the functions of CWC between the newly-created National ECCD Council and the DSWD, an agency faced with the herculean task of implementing the various social welfare programs of government, would endanger the gains of the Philippines over the last 20 years in addressing children's rights and welfare. EO 778 would effectively jeopardize the mandates and functions of CWC as provided for in various Philippine laws and executive issuances including the country's commitment to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC).

The CWC has been in the forefront of coordinating the formulation of the National Strategic Framework on Plan Development for Children (Child 21), National Strategic Framework on Children's Participation and the National Strategic Plan of Action on Violence against Children. Through its advocacy, Philippine laws and national policies were harmonized with the UNCRC, which resulted in the enactment of RA 7610 (An Act Providing for Stronger Deterrence and Special Protection against Child Abuse, Exploitation and Discrimination), RA 9231 (An Act Providing for the Elimination of the Worst Forms of Child Labor and Affording Stronger Protection for the Working Child), RA 9208 (Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act), and RA 9344 (Juvenile Justice Welfare Act), among others.

Our country's numerous concerns on children (trafficking, prostitution, abuse, hazardous labor, among others) need to be addressed effectively and decisively. Breaking up the functions of CWC between the National ECCD Council and DSWD is a step in the wrong direction as this runs counter to the indivisibility and integrated relationship of all the rights of children.

With the global economic crisis hitting the country over the long haul, we have to conserve scarce resources. What is needed is to strengthen the role of the CWC. This is in accordance with the Concluding Observations of the United Nations Committee on the Rights of the Child that recommended to the Philippine government to provide the CWC with the necessary resources for the monitoring, evaluation and implementation of child-related laws.

Mrs. President, we reiterate our appeal, please reconsider EO 778 and preserve the integrity and mandate of CWC. In the end, it is the best interest of the Filipino children that is at stake here.

Pratiwi presented the findings of the study, funded by the International Development Research Center (IDRC) based in Canada, in a pre-conference meeting in Manila City.

He said the study was conducted to help affected communities as well as decision makers come up with ways to adapt to climate change.

Belo: We'll address nurse's charges in the proper venue

By Allison K. Lopez

THE BULO MEDICAL GROUP YESTERDAY declined to react to an allegedly leaked preliminary report made on a 30-year-old nurse and said they would "address the charges in the proper venue."

In an e-mailed statement to the Inquirer, the corporate entity company led by Dr. Helena "Yuki" Belo said that upon advice of its legal counsel, it will "refrain from discussing the merits of the case" involving Linda Palagiano, who reportedly suffered permanent scars from a thermage procedure.

"That is for the reason of this matter is ongoing at respective deliberations of the court," said spokesperson, JRCF press manager.

The 32-year-old, now charged, Belo and Dr. Jennifer Sison, who performed the non-surgical procedure in July 2008, with evidence in pre-trial hearing in serious physical injury in the Makati City Prosecutor's Office.

Palagiano is seeking for $25 million in damages because she reportedly lost her self-confidence and became self-conscious due to the "irreversible facial lesions" she sustained after the procedure.

While taking fleeing suspicion in allegations made by the complainant, Bulosan and the company would either continue at the proper venue and hold a press briefing in due time.

Proposed resolution on SM building plan put on hold

By Julie M. Acosta

THE QUEZON CITY COUNCIL HAS put on hold a proposed resolution allowing SM City, its put-up in Greenbelt 3, to build along Kalayaan Avenue after opposition from La Verda residents.

The decision was made by the committee on city planning, building and zoning during a public hearing on the issue yesterday.

"As of now, the strategy of the proposed resolution is that it is hereby, strictly suspended. We will not be making it or discussing it but instead we will have the joint session SM and the residents," explained committee chair Ricardo Belandier Jr.

This means that the city council would not automatically pass the resolution if it would still have to hold public hearings to consider the residents' opposition.

Asked to comment, lawyer Epifanio de la Cruz, Jr. of SM Don't Engage said they would abide with the preliminary public hearings as the proposed resolution was suspended indefinitely.

"There is a public hearing on the application for exemption to construct an embankment construction project, so a property owner [La Verda]... along Kalayaan Avenue, Quezon City, which was purchased by SMCC, along Valley View Road, Don't Engage, a subsidiary of the La Verda Realty," he said in an e-mail to the Inquirer.

"We cannot proceed further on the issue because the public hearing is being conducted by the Commission on City Planning, Building and Zoning of the city council of Quezon City," Belandier added.

Last week, residents of La Verda Subdivision and La Verda General Mills engaged, objected to the project, claiming it would worsen the traffic on Kalayaan Avenue and would have negative effect on the environment and the residential sewage system.

During yesterday's hearing, a heated exchange ensued between the residents and the SM officials, who said they wanted the public hearing as a condition of Quezon City and for their constituents.

The public hearing was also attended by several other officials, who said they would call a committee to hear the views of the residents' proponents, who had been explaining the role of public hearings.

Belandier claimed that the hearing was not intended to give a green light to the project but to hear the residents' and others' concerns. He said the residents' and others' concerns would be taken into account when the city council would make a decision on the project.

"We need to hear the residents' and others' concerns and then we will make a decision on the project," he said.

SM City, which was purchased by SMCC, along Valley View Road, Don't Engage, a subsidiary of the La Verda Realty, he said in an e-mail to the Inquirer.

"We cannot proceed further on the issue because the public hearing is being conducted by the Commission on City Planning, Building and Zoning of the city council of Quezon City," Belandier added.

Last week, residents of La Verda Subdivision and La Verda General Mills engaged, objected to the project, claiming it would worsen the traffic on Kalayaan Avenue and would have negative effect on the environment and the residential sewage system.

During yesterday's hearing, a heated exchange ensued between the residents and the SM officials, who said they wanted the public hearing as a condition of Quezon City and for their constituents.

Forex reserves rose to $39.3B in February

Increase traced to ODA inflows, higher gold prices

By Michelle V. Rana

THE COUNTRY'S GROSS INTERNATIONAL RESERVES latched up to a new historic high in February, keeping the economy in a comfortable position as far as meeting its foreign exchange requirements in the near term is concerned.

The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) reported that the GIR stood at $39.32 billion as of end-February, up 0.2 percent from $39.25 billion the previous month.

The latest GIR was also 6 percent higher than the $36.29 billion posted in February 2006.

The BSP credited the increase in the reserves partly to the foreign currency-denominated loans received by the national governments from the World Bank and the Asian Development Bank — one of the Philippines' biggest sources of official development assistance.

Greek-Filipino scientist urges public to forego meat, walk daily

By Teo B. Salazar

THE INVENTOR OF THE portable machine that can detect early signs of atherosclerosis (plaque buildup in the arterial walls) and in the process help save lives from coronary artery disease can think of only two perfect companions to his machine: exercise and a diet filled with fruits and vegetables.

In Helen Manosipou-Greco-Papa, a Greek-Filipino who invented the BPUS, a pocket-sized device that can accurately detect the elasticity of a person's arteries, coupled with her own lifestyle and health care by her own advice for his knowledge to be best explained and distributed in underdeveloped countries.

More than just advancing the practice of early detection of atherosclerosis, Papa, a cardiologist, who is in the Philippines as part of the Department of Human and Biological Sciences (HBS) program, urged Filipinos to eat as much fruit and vegetables as they could daily, cut consumption of meat to one meal a week, eat down on fish, pork, chicken, salt, sugar, coffee, white rice and oil, and engage in daily 45-minute brisk walk or jogging (which Papa herself engages in regularly).

Physically active

In fact, Papa urged Filipinos to be physically active every waking hour of their lives.

She also had a story with the community health project of the first health Filipinos to study abroad, which she and her husband, Dr. Papa, who was a biologist and researcher at the UP College of Medicine and the Philippine General Hospital.

Assuring Filipinos of safe, effective generic drugs

By Charles E. Rubin

THE PRICE of medicine considered one of the most significant obstacles for people seeking to access proper medical treatment. After all, who could not afford to pay for a medicine?

With this in mind, and more consumers choosing to buy generic drugs, the Philippine government is working to ensure that generic drugs are safe and effective.

C-section babies might have weaker immune systems

SOME PARENTS PREFER TO DELIVER their babies by Caesarean section (C-section) than by vaginal birth. But a new study from the University of Illinois at Chicago suggests that babies born by C-section may have weaker immune systems than those born vaginally.

The study, which was published in the journal Journal of Allergy and Clinical Immunology, found that babies born by C-section have lower levels of certain immune cells than those born vaginally. These cells are important for fighting off infections.

The ultimate guide to the Jonas Brothers Concert Experience—for non-fans

Dragged to the movie by your little sister? Here's what you need to know

By Pam Pater

OH, SO YOU'RE NOT A YOUNG girl. Or maybe you are but you don't know it at the age of 30, 40, or 50.

But there's still a tiny chance you'll find yourself lost in the cinema, dragged (or dangled) by your little sister(s) to see the Jonas Brothers. The 76 minutes you will spend watching the Jonas Brothers' concert experience should be more enjoyable.

In the end, with the right attitude and armed with the right tips, you might even enjoy yourself.

We want to help. Here is your guide to the Jonas Brothers Concert Experience.

1. You will be surrounded by teenage and teenage girls.
2. There will be screaming. Oh yes, the screaming will start long before the Jonas Brothers appear onstage. They start as soon as the lights dim and until the girls realize the movie hasn't started yet, and that what they're watching is the preview.

3. There will be singing, usually. The audience will be singing along, too. If you don't sing yourself, you will be singing along, too.

4. It's live—at least if you watch in 3D. Most of them in 2D. The show, and that's good news because 3D movies are always fun. In this movie's case, you can see the Jonas Brothers up close while performing, so close you can actually smell their music. In fact, Broken Lane of the New York Times wrote, "This live show can put's likely to get without incurring a costuming crisis."

5. It isn't just a concert. The movie

3-D JONAS BROS. Now in 3D

also gives the audience a look at the boy's lives—from how their body-guard wakes them up to a crazy house day packed with goings-on, up to posters and posters screaming love. The best part is seeing how amazed the boys are at their own fame.

"Oh my God, there are so many people here," they keep saying in disbelief, every single time their car pulls up to a place (usually by a hotel).

6. There are great stars. Such as the David LaBeault and Taylor Swift. And the two bodyguards they love to rap.

7. Keep your eyes open for the love scene. That's a fun, old-fashioned scene adults for some reason—

let's not guess.)

8. The talk will be the status of the last engagement. It's been days and I still hear "She gets to be good to me. The guys be good to you in my head."

9. You will be surrounded by fans. And while some people will find that annoying, I think it's actually a good thing. I like a good crowd of people in my own and then, in a world of cynicism and journalism, this might just be the closest thing we have to pure, unadorned love.

10. And if I mention there will be screaming? You might want to bring your girlfriends of choice, to see the screams give you a headache.

EXCITED ERASERHEADS FANS, get ready for some serious rock and roll tonight in "The Final Day."

"It will be worth it," said drummer Randall Brinkman.

The "best music on 25" will have a great start. Musicians wouldn't tell us who, but we guess it's long periods of betweenness, the "Wild Disconnection" in last year's names, vocal tag, 30 gig Offer you cut about the so famous TLE banders health coach (ha).

"Everyone was into the fun, so," he said.

They've had their rehearsal this time. There will be no costumes, guitars, but classic bits from the band are given up with. As hours, someone asks from friends will double ends.

"It's a one-time thing, an unofficial band. It will be fun," former faculty Eheads said. Brinkman is known "bitch," he added.

The band cut down on the practice. He said, "It's only had two releases. It's a big cut of the first three albums," referring to his cut into "Unofficial Disconnection," "Love" and "Cartoonists."

The members now have their own bands after the breakup in 2002. So how are the heads now?

"We're cool," said Brinkman. "More so."

"Public may underestimate, our music may change," added lead guitarist Mark Wilson. "It's a good, it's positive of me."

"It's not such," said Eheads. "He's been playing with different bands, so we are sure can't meet with the old Eraserheads."

He is now with The Dawn and continues to perform and release. Brinkman founded in lead vocalist for TLE. Wilson goes back to his roots and Eheads, who has continued his career lifestyle and formed Mark Wilson.

Immune response from GSK's cervical cancer vaccine seen to last at least 20 years

New data presented recently at the European Research Organization on Cervical Infection and Neoplasia (EUROGIN) annual meeting in Nice, France, demonstrate that young women vaccinated with GSK's Cervixina (GSK's cervical cancer vaccine) could look forward to a prolonged immune response against the two most common cancer-causing human papillomavirus (HPV) types HPV 16 and 18 for at least 20 years.

Three statistical models (linear, mixed, and generalized) were used to predict the long-term persistence of antibody against HPV 16 and 18 and all three showed that the levels of antibodies against HPV 16 and 18 in women vaccinated with GSK's cervical cancer vaccine will remain significantly above those seen following natural infection for over 20 years.

"Predicting the levels of antibodies generated and sustained against HPV 16 and 18 is important to directly measure duration of protection," said Dr. Koen Van Hest of the Centre for the Evaluation of Vaccines, Antwerp, Belgium. "Long-term immune response is the body's ability to protect itself, is particularly important when vaccinating adolescents and young women against cervical cancer as new infections with cancer-causing HPV types can occur throughout their lives."

The statistical models used in this study utilized data from an ongoing phase II study conducted over 6.4 years. This ongoing study for a vaccine against HPV 16 and 18 and all three showed that the levels of antibodies against HPV 16 and 18 in women vaccinated with GSK's cervical cancer vaccine will remain significantly above those seen following natural infection for over 20 years.

GSK's cervical cancer vaccine is formulated with the innovative adjuvant system AS04, specifically designed and selected to enhance the immune response against HPV, which is responsible for cervical cancer. Adjuvants are substances used to enhance the immune system's response to an antigen, and data shows that GSK's cervical cancer vaccine, adjuvanted with AS04, induces a stronger and more sustained immune response compared to the same vaccine antigen formulated with conventional aluminum hydroxide alone.

Cervical cancer currently ranks as the second highest killer cancer among women in the Philippines, claiming an estimated 4,000 lives out of the 6,000 cases reported each year. As one of the world's leading research-based pharmaceutical and healthcare companies, GSK is committed to improving the lives of people around the world, and we are committed to doing so, here, better and faster. For company information, please visit www.gsk.com.ph.

This isn't play for her anymore. I hope I've prepared her enough.

And it includes protecting her from cervical cancer.

- Angel Aquino

Cervical cancer vaccination is now affordable.

Before your natural little girl ventures out into the world, give her with the protection she needs, especially from preventable diseases like cervical cancer.

Cervical cancer is the second highest killer cancer of women in the Philippines. The good news is more women can now protect themselves through screening and an affordable vaccine. Screening detects the early signs of cancer. A vaccine can help protect women from HPV—the virus that causes cervical cancer.

Now you can make sure you and your daughter get the protection you need at a price you can afford.

Ask your doctor about cervical cancer prevention today.

'Zex' as art and acrobatics

By Maura D. Torre

FOR YEARS NOW, CIRQUE du Soleil has transformed the circus scene, fusing acrobatics with art, spectacle and acrobatic storytelling in amazing effect. From circus to Cirque, from makeshift tents to pushy showbiz palaces in Las Vegas and other mainstream capitals of the world, it's been quite a heady trip.

So, even inspired fanfare can wear thin after a number of years, so look what Cirque is doing now: It's started to visit art fairs and artful spectacles. And it's added art to the already seductive equation, by way of its latest production, "Za Za Zou."

"Za Zou" is described as "a cabaret-style show from Cirque du Soleil at the New York, New York Hotel and Casino. It reveals the sensual side of Cirque, a seductive twist on reality, building the provocative playful and the fabulous into play. It focuses on human nature by to explore love and sexuality."

Documentary

Sensationally, we recently caught a TV documentary on the making of "Za Zou," so we can report on this latest while on the cusp of its stage debut.

So, the movie lists this entertaining—and spectacular! The show is such a big production that a fluster had to be completely pulled to make way for its huge stage. "Zou" that spins and swirls around.

Aside from the music and sensual main feature, the new show also has an aerial act, a deep pit outlined with a huge net to catch falling acrobats, and other state-of-the-art technology and effects.

So, the use of the show is still in circulation of the sensuality of "Za Zou," and this is where things get both brilliantly right and disturbingly wrong.

First, the great news: "Za Zou" continues its traditional circus format with its very own circus theme—no body effect. Also welcome is the producer's inclusion of two show performers from the cast, eventually showing the audience that the performers are not the physically perfect.

One performer is the show's current face, one of acrobatics and sex, despite the very real's best efforts, the acrobatics are not, and the sex (which is not naked) is, rather than creatively integrated into the production.

Acrobatic attempt

Despite this and other hopes, "Za Zou" is not really for its audience's attempt to push the limits of "Zou" and even "Zou" entertainment. Sexuality is part of the circus of life, so it should be celebrated—for adult audiences.

Memorable images include: The water-based scene, in which acrobats can see how far they can glide through the water as they strike a running array of aerial poses.

A man and a woman perform in a "Zou" headbanging act that reveals the beauty of intimacy.

Standing room ovation, without further adieu and other boob-tube boobos

By Hector U. Tene

SHORT: WHEN WAS YOUR last love?
Guest: Spinaltap. Is it a thing (under 2000) hanging around?
(That's really long delivery!)

Host: When are we to reduce the number of love clips?
Guest: Most important, when you're down to deep, none of the clips.
(How, that's a real nice off...)

Host: This is such a comfortable family room you have, the way you decorated it. What is the mood?

Guest: Because we wanted to make a big family.
(Oh, that's another, not much!)

Controversial: GAY
Host: What do you want included in your investigation of this controversial case?
Guest: Can they also hang their laundry in the street?
(Controversy killed this act!)

Host: Do your best to be a little more specific, what's the best thing you've played?
Guest: Magical and naked also around the town of the city.
(How about...)

Host: When was your reaction to the Internet on TV?
Guest: With the My Morning Jitters... about the morning music?
(What rock have you been listening to... and, in how long?)

Host: When have you last seen people?
Guest: All the women say it, we are very beautiful.
(How, they are...)

Host: How was the internet you watched last Sunday?
Guest: The danger was great—they gave me a standing room ovation.
(They flatter the work, huh?)

Guest: This was all at the bar?

Controversial: King Kong?
(That's a cheap, not a thing!)

Host: Why is Angelina Jolie your favorite actress?
Guest: Because she's so beautiful—she really makes her mind on the screen.
(Who isn't a star?)

Personality
Host: What makes a star different from the many others on the screen?
Guest: If you want to be a star, everything I said was my own personality.
(How to go...)

Host: Why do movies keep coming back to the Philippines?
Guest: More and more, these days, it's because of our beautiful scenery—we have so many different landscapes that are not even close to it.
(How?)

Host: How many love's are last number—without further adieu?
(Adieu means you!)
